

BIG LOSS CAUSED BY STORM'S FURY

Telegraph, Telephone, and Railroads Suffer.

TRIALS BESET VISITORS

Inaugural Throng Carries Home
Bitter Memories.

Western Union and Postal Companies Lose at Least $2,000,000 as Result of Blizzard—Outgoing Passengers Endure Much Inconvenience While Waiting for Trains.
Thirty Thousand Glad to Get Away.

The aftermath of the inauguration, so far as the visitors to Washington are concerned, is a wild and tragic experience which will serve them as tea-table anecdotes for years to come.

With railroad service still partially demoralized, with the immense Union Station, supposed to be built far in advance of the needs of the Capital, taxed and strained as the rendezvous of a huge, helpless army of outsiders, the 1909 celebration will leave many cruel memories.

The blizzard has been a severe infliction on the railroads, the telegraph and telephone companies. There are 1,300 wires of the Western Union prostrate between Washington and Philadelphia, and the company estimates its loss throughout the country at not less than $1,000,000. The Postal Company has suffered even more heavily.

The trials and tribulations of the thousands who tried to depart for "home, sweet home," yesterday would fill a volume. The outgoing trains were running two hours late as an average, and the schedules were hopelessly deranged.
Thousands of strangers journeyed to the station with sublime faith in the time table, and found that no one knew when train No. 22, or whatever number it was, would pull out. One authority would say "In about two hours," another would estimate three. It was all a matter of chance.

Officials Helpless.
It is estimated, nevertheless, that 20,000 visitors shook the slush of Washington from their heels yesterday. Trains were run at an opportunity offered. Specials were made up as waiting regiments in the station lost patience with agonizing delays. The officials were not confused; they were simply helpless. Many waiting parties took two or three meals in the terminal, and many whose trains were supposed to leave in the early evening left through the night.

All outgoing trains were run on signal, for practically none of the railroad wires were repaired yesterday. It is hoped, however, to have the trains dispatched this morning approximately according to the normal schedules. The incoming trains were almost ignored yesterday.
The outgoing thousands had to be taken care of first.

The service to the larger cities, such as New York, Boston, and Philadelphia, has been largely restored. The local service is still more or less uncertain.
The Florida limited service, which caused a good deal of worry, has been restored, and trains to the West are being sent out on fairly good time. As trains are being run on signal only, the officials make absolutely no promises as to time of reaching destinations. They know that trains will probably be hours late, although, the worst conditions are within a radius of twenty-four miles about Washington.

Wire Service Crippled.
The telegraph companies are still straining every nerve to restore communication within the storm area, which seems to be bounded by Wilmington, Del., on the east, and York, Pa., on the west. In this section all the wires are down, and thousands of poles snapped off. The snowbound country roads make repair work difficult. All linemen have been sent out, and assistance from points as far distant as Chicago and South Carolina has been summoned.

The Western Union Company has restored communication with New York via Richmond, Atlanta, and Cincinnati. Baltimore is completely cut off, and it is not hoped to have the lines working before tomorrow night. By an indirect route a connection with Philadelphia has been gained. The company is, however, accepting all business North, except Baltimore.

The Postal Telegraph Company is not yet in condition to know the real extent of its loss. The Bankers and Merchants line through Prince George County, Md., is a total wreck. A week will be required for its restoration. The scouts, mounted on horses and plowing their way through drifts, precede the repair gangs, and were able to penetrate only eight miles outside of Washington yesterday. In that distance they found forty-eight poles down.

Aid Is Summoned.
More than 150 linemen are at work on the three routes North, and other gangs have been summoned from Chicago, Cleveland, and New York. Only two wires are intact along the Richmond line.
Messages to New York are being sent via Birmingham, Louisville, and Chicago.
Six wires to Alexandria are intact.
In this city the telephone service is more or less demoralized on the North, Columbia, and Lincoln branches. There are 2,100 subscribers without service, and the Takoma and Brightwood sections are entirely cut off.

WILL REACH BOTH OCEANS.

Harriman's New Line in Conjunction with the Gould Road.
Pittsburg, Pa., March 5.—The Harriman interests acting in conjunction with the Goulds have established another transcontinental connection linking up the Baltimore and Ohio, the Wabash, and the Union Pacific. Wabash officials at Pittsburg to-day announced that beginning April 4 a through service from coast to coast via Pittsburg will be started.

From the Atlantic seaboard via the Baltimore and Ohio to Pittsburg, and from Pittsburg to St. Louis by fast train over the Wabash, and at St. Louis one of the fastest trains will be started at 8:30 each day over the Union Pacific's lower route to Cheyenne via Denver. At Cheyenne connection will be made with the Union Pacific's Overland Flyer, and by it on through to the Coast.

CONCERTS INSPIRE LOVERS OF MUSIC

Two Fine Programmes Given in Pension Building.

OTHERS PLANNED FOR TO-DAY

Throng of 12,000 Persons Attends Evening Performance in Inaugural Ball Room—Great Chorus Does Effective Work, Which Is Fully Appreciated by Music Lovers.

A throng of more than 12,000 persons squeezed and wedged themselves about the inaugural ballroom for the greater part of last evening, both to hear the music and to see the beautiful decorations of the ballroom, and go over the almost fair scene of last night in their imagination.

The great chorus under the baton of Mr. Percy S. Foster, numbering 500 of Washington's best voices, and the Marine Band Orchestra under the baton of Lieut.
Sautermann were inspiration. Indeed, to say nothing of the effective singing of Mrs. Anne Grant Fugitt, soprano soloist, whose clear, telling tones reached almost the furthest corners of the mammoth hall.

She was eminently successful in the trying work of singing in so vast a place, and her ringing high tones aroused the greatest enthusiasm. The chorus sang with characteristic precision and shading, which all choruses conducted by Mr.
Foster do. The tone work was splendid, and the audience listened attentively to every number.

Concerts To-day.

The concerts to-day will attract a no less interesting crowd, though doubtless not such large ones, as most of the visitors took advantage of yesterday's concerts, owing to the great numbers leaving the city last night and this morning.

The offering at this afternoon's concert will be the Philadelphia Constabulary Band.
Capt. W. H. Lovell, director, assisted by the Taft Glee Club, Dayton, Ohio, and the well-known Musurgia Glee Club, of Washington, D. C., Edgar Priest, conductor. The programme is as follows:

Overture, "Zampa" (Herold); (a) "Mulligan Musketeers" (Atkinson); (b) "Breeze of the Night" (Lamothe); Dayton Taft Glee Club; excerpt from "La Gioconda" (Dance of the Hours, Ponchielli); (b)
"First Heart-Throb" (Ellenberg); (a) "Landings" (Grider); (b) Winter Song (Bullard); Musurgia Club; fantasia for tuba, "Beelzebub" (Catozzi); Senior Hippocritus de la Cruz; fantasia, "My Old Kentucky Home" (Dalbey); (a) "Sword of Paradise" (Bullard); (b) "Sunset" (Van de Water); Dayton Taft Glee Club; "Moonlight Sonata" (first movement, Beethoven); (b) "Torchlight Dance" ("The Bride of Kashmir") (Rubinstein); "Suite de Valse" ("Espana") (Waldteufel); (a) "The Sweetest Flower" (Hickley); (b) "The Zephyr" (Gibson); Musurgia Club; selection from "Carmen" (Bizet); "Grand Pastoral and Hunting Scene—Le Premier-berg" (Koenemann).

To-night's Programme.

To-night's programme will be given by the inaugural chorus again, with the Marine Band Orchestra and Mrs. Fugitt, and their programme will include the opening number "America," overture by Beethoven's "Egmont," by the orchestra, and the soldiers' chorus from "Gounod's" "Faust," by the inaugural chorus; "Recessional" (De Koven), inaugural chorus; "Georgetown March" (Ernest Lent), gems of Stephen Foster (Tobani), "Our Country's Festival March" (Whiting), and "Columbia, Beloved" (Donizetti), adored from the opera "Lucrèce" (Santel-mann), "Union and Liberty" (Parker), and "March of Our Nation" (Geibel), inaugural chorus; soprano solo, "Star Spangled Banner" (Key), Mrs. Anna Grant Fugitt.

The throng last night was typical of inauguration week. It was of all classes, all nationalities, and all kinds, some in evening clothes, some in the plainest of street dress, but all more or less well dressed, and all dignified and good natured in spite of the discomforts of being crowded and overheated.

There were some, to be sure, for whom the heat in the galleries was too much, and they collapsed. They were quickly removed to the many rooms, where there were comforts in the way of chairs, couches, and water, and better than anything else, air. They speedily recovered.

Warm Praises Given.

The work of the chorus and orchestra could not be too warmly praised, and the thousands of visitors to Washington will carry away with them the impression that we can make music here that is really worth while.

The programme last night was as follows: "America," overture to Weber's "Oberon"; To the O. Country, "Eichenlaub," inaugural chorus; Geibel's "March of Our Nation," chorus; von Blon's Tone Picture, "Spring of Love"; "Union and

WRECK RUMORS HEARD.

Much Excitement Results from Report of Railroad Disaster.
Wreck rumors were thick in Washington at 2 o'clock this morning that a passenger train had been wrecked either at Odenton or Laurel, Md., and many persons killed.
Passengers arriving by the W. B. & A. electric line at 1:30 o'clock said a wreck had occurred on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Odenton. They announced that as a result of the wreck the Pennsylvania was using a single track in an effort to keep up its traffic.

The most startling rumor was to the effect that a Baltimore and Ohio train had been wrecked at Laurel. It was said that fifty or more of the Fifth Massachusetts Regiment, which participated in the inaugural parade, had been killed. Another rumor placed the list of dead at 100.

Newspaper correspondents were routed from their beds by reports of the disaster, but all telephone and telegraph wires being out of order, confirmation or denial of the rumor was not easily obtainable.

At 2 o'clock the Baltimore American, of Baltimore, sent a wireless message to The Washington Herald stating there was no truth in the rumors. The Fifth Massachusetts Regiment, it was stated, had passed through Baltimore yesterday afternoon.

ASKS LIBERTY OR DEATH.

Albert T. Patrick Declares Conspiracy Sent Him to Prison.
New York, March 5.—Liberty or death embodies the argument put forward today in the appellate division of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn by Albert T.
Patrick, the convicted murderer of William Marsh Rice.

Patrick pleaded his own case in court in the habeas corpus proceedings brought by himself, on the contention that the commutation of his sentence of paying the death penalty to life imprisonment was unconstitutional.

Most bitterly he attacked the judges, district attorney, and the latter's aim in his opening speech, charging them with conspiracy to send him to jail and to have him executed.

To all the charges made by Patrick, Robert C. Taylor, an assistant district attorney, who appeared in behalf of Mr.
Jerome, demurred, and said it was useless for this sort of argument to be allowed.

The court gave both sides two weeks in which to submit briefs. Meantime Patrick was remanded to Sing Sing.

SOLDIERS INVADE LUNCHROOM

Throw Stones Through Window and Scatter Food About

Said to Be Members of Fifth Pennsylvania Regiment—Make a Rush for the Train.

Fifty soldiers from Pennsylvania invaded a lunchroom at 142 First street northwest last night. When they left the lunchroom was wrecked. Everything breakable had been broken and the rest thrown away.

The soldiers caused about $1,000 damage before they ran for the train. When the police arrived the train had left, and the men were en route to Pennsylvania. It is said the men were members of Company K, of the Fifth Regiment, but the company was not established.

The trouble began when six soldiers entered the lunchroom and an argument was started.

The soldiers threatened to "clean the place out," and Manager Mossburg notified police headquarters. When he left the soldiers locked the front door and marshaled his forces. A few minutes passed while customers ate their food in silence, and then a rock crashed through a front window. A second one followed, and then a fusillade of rocks, bricks, and other missiles commenced.

When the bombardment ceased, the soldiers put their shoulders to the front door and it collapsed. Fifty of the uniformed men entered the room, but only customers were visible. The employees had disappeared.

The customers were ordered to leave the place, and they obeyed with the alacrity of trained troops. The soldiers of demolition began, and when the soldiers finished every piece of china and glassware in the lunchroom had been shattered to bits, plates, coffee, sugar, sandwiches, and other provisions scattered about, chairs, tables, and stools broken, and windows and doors broken down.

The lunchroom is owned by the Florentine Cafe Company and is managed by Joseph W. Mossburg.

DR. MARTIN H. BOYE DEAD.

Scientist Was Noted for His Discoveries in Chemistry.

Bethlehem, Pa., March 5.—Dr. Martin H. Boye, a scientist of world-wide reputation, died to-day at his home at Coopers-burg, near here, of ailments incident to old age, aged ninety-seven years. He was a graduate of the University of Copenhagen, Denmark, in chemistry, and the University of Pennsylvania in medicine.

In connection with the late Prof. H. D.
Rogers in 1878, Dr. Boye discovered a new compound of platinum chloride with nitric oxide. In 1890 Dr. Boye discovered the first of the perchloric ether, which he proved was three times as powerful as gun powder.

Mutual Life Insurance Company in 1906 against its former president, Richard A.
McCurdy, and other officers and agents of the company for the recovery of money said to have been obtained wrongfully by the defendants or expended improperly. Stipulations were filed yesterday in the Supreme Court by counsel for the company agreeing to a discontinuance of the suits. The company has received from the defendants, collectively, $815,000.

KILLS CAPTAIN

William H. Mathews Shot Down in His Office.

ACT OF A POLICEMAN

John W. Collier Sends Five Bullets Into Body.

TRAGEDY IN 5TH PRECINCT

Trouble Believed to Have Developed as Result of Mathews' Reprimand for Collier's Dereliction of Duty in Evading Reserve Work on Night Before Inauguration Day—Policeman, Who Is Locked Up, Refuses to Make Statement—Alone with Captain When Killing Occurred.

Capt. William H. Mathews, of the Fifth police precinct, was shot and almost instantly killed last night by Policeman John W. Collier.

The tragedy occurred behind the closed doors of the captain's private office in the station house, about 7:45 o'clock. The men were alone.

Collier fired five shots, two taking effect in the forehead and three entering the right temple. Policemen ran from the reserve room and found Collier bending over the captain, with a revolver in his right hand and the muzzle a few inches from Mathews' head.

Capt. Mathews died while policemen were overpowering Collier.
In the struggle the revolver was knocked from Collier's hand. Collier was searched and locked in a cell on a charge of murder.

Probably two minutes passed from the time the first shot was fired until the lock on a cell door clicked, imprisoning Collier. Three minutes later, Maj. Sylvester had been notified and regular police procedure set in motion.

First Shooting of Kind.

Capt. Mathews is the first captain of the Washington police department to be shot by one of his own men. The tragedy cast gloom over the department from the major to the latest recruit.

Police-men of the Fifth precinct, as well as those all over the city, asked what had prompted the act.

"What had Mathews done to Collier?" was the question, but the answer has not yet been given.

That there was a feud between the captain and private is the opinion of the Fifth precinct men. What was the word or the act that prompted the shooting has not been learned.

Collier maintains a Sphinx-like silence.
So far as learned the policeman has spoken just three sentences since firing the fatal bullet. While struggling with policemen who ran to the assistance of the captain, Collier said:

"What's all right?"
"While being searched before the sergeant's desk Collier broke the silence in the large room with the simple admission: "I did it, all right."

Again, when behind the bars in the cell room, he spoke, saying:
"I care to make no statement."

Police-men, detectives, and officers' men with whom Collier has worked for four years, tried in vain to persuade him to give a reason for his act, but he had apparently made the firm determination to let them guess as to the motive.

Origin of the Feud.

In the opinions of policemen under Capt.
Mathews, the feud had its origin on the night of March 2, Collier, it is said, was expecting a reprimand. He had evaded reserve duty on the night before Inauguration Day. Since then Capt. Mathews had no opportunity to speak to Collier concerning his dereliction of duty, and when the policeman walked into the station and started toward the office one of the policemen remarked: "Now there is going to be trouble."

TAKES IODINE FOR BALSAM.

Man Gets Wrong Dose, but He Soon Recovers.

Gloucester, N. J., March 5.—James Johnson, the day watchman and flagman at the Market street crossing of the West Jersey and Seashore Railroad, had a bad case last night when in mistake for a dose of tincture of iodine he took a large dose of balsam.

He soon discovered his mistake and hurriedly summoned his wife and a physician, thinking that the mistake would kill him, but he soon recovered after stimulants had been administered. In the future he says he will examine the medicine he intends to take.

New York, March 5.—The jury in the American Sugar Refining Company, to amount asked for.

"WETS" WIN POINT.

Now Believed Roonroe Election Will Be Upset.

Special to The Washington Herald.
Roanoke, Va., March 5.—The "wets" won a big victory to-day in the local option contest here, when Judge Staples, of the Corporation Court, ruled that an amendment to the original petition of the contestants was admissible.

This provides for a general attack on the tax lists as prepared and furnished by City Treasurer Lawrence S. Davis for the recent local option election. In effect, it means that the validity of the entire tax list will be attacked, it being alleged that the list furnished by Davis was not prepared in accordance with the constitution and the laws of the State.

Judge Staples declared that in event the election should be set aside on the grounds specified in the amendment, the cost of the proceedings would be placed on the contestants.

INAUGURAL CROWDS LEAVE THE CAPITAL

Passengers Delayed by Crippled Train Service.

BANDS BREAK THE MONOTONY

Soldiers, Marching Clubs, Governors, Members of Congress, and Others Wait While Railroad Officials Find Trains for Them—Confusion Gives Way to Improvement in Service.

Soldiers, members of political marching clubs, members of Congress, State governors, and other high officials, and some plain mortals, passed through Union Station yesterday, most of them boarding special trains to be hurried to their homes in all parts of the country.

Regiment after regiment filed through the big concourse, with bands playing and colors flying, to board the trains assigned to them. From early morning until late at night the halls of the great waiting-room resounded with martial music as the bands of the waiting troops whirled away the time until the trains were made ready to receive them.

Military organizations predominated, but civilian marching clubs were also much in evidence, and their bands vied with those of the soldiers in playing airs, to the delight of the crowds that thronged the station.

In the early part of the day there was some confusion and much delay in starting the trains, as the crippling of telegraph lines made it impossible to work the signals, but steadily the work became more systematized, and by night the announced schedules were more nearly adhered to.

Ohio Republicans Leave.

At 2 o'clock yesterday morning the Union County Republican Club entrained for Newark, N. J. At 7 o'clock the coast artillery regiments from New England boarded the train. They were followed two hours later by the Fifth Massachusetts Volunteers. Between these two military organizations came the Buckeye Republican Club, returning to Columbus, Ohio, and the Essex Troop, a crack military organization of Newbury, departed about noon. The P. sional brigade of Western Pennsylvania was the largest single organization to reach the station.

At 11 o'clock in the morning the dement of United States marines entrain for Philadelphia and Brooklyn. On train for Princeton were the Capt. and the Ivy Club. The S.
Ward Republican Club of Camden.
The train for New Jersey, the F.
Tenth, and Twenty-fourth Commands New York went off on one train at the morning. The trains for Pennsylvania carried the Young Men's Tariff Club of Reading, the Twenty-sev-Ward Republican Club and the E. tenth Ward Marching Club, both Philadelphia.

The Georgia Cadets and the cadet the Virginia Military Institute left the morning and were given a he-send-off by the crowd. The Uncle Marching Club, which celebrated the delegation of Yale students left in afternoon on a special car, carrying niners and small flags. The Seventh Republican Club, of Yonkers, and New York County Republican Club left every one in the station to a co-before bidding farewell to the Cap-The music of the Eighth Regiment, National Guard, brought forth a hearty applause.

Organized Militia Waits.

At 1:30 last night the First Regt.
Organized Militia, of Delaware, en-trained for the station, but it was not till 6 o'clock before their train was rto receive them.

Troop A, of Baltimore, embarked in morning at the New York avenue station. Late last night the Seventh Iment of New York, under com-Col. Dan Appleton and Col. W.
Fiske, boarded their long special and started for home.

Troop A, of the Ohio National G-which acted as escort to President Taft during the inaugural parade, will start to-day to Annapolis, where they will spend the day inspecting the United States Naval Academy and visiting the public buildings of the State capital. They will return to Washington late in the afternoon.
